

About

Electronic beats meet cello meets live drumming.

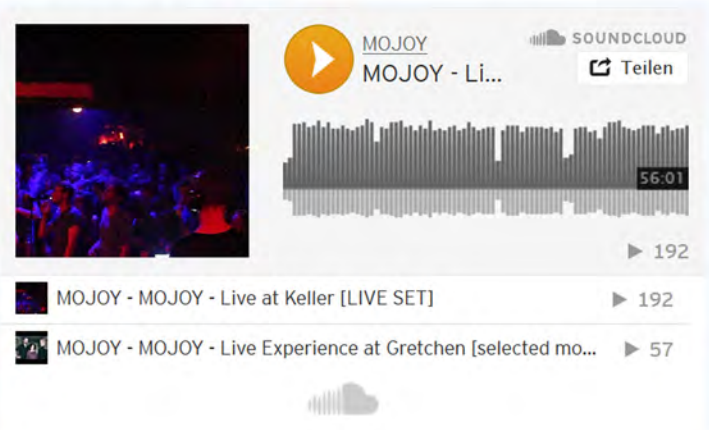

Mojoy join the worlds of acoustic and electronic music and thus breathe some life into all-too-often dry club music.

They bring you lyrical cello melodies spacing over pumping rhythms straight from the Berlin club scene.

Add this to driving live percussion and you are left with no choice but to dance.

Mojoy are a fresh live-electro ensemble formed in Berlin just recently and made their well received debut concert a Club Gretchen in January of this year. It was formed by Sebastian aka KNICK:LICHT, who provided some electronic foundation to the project, and ILLAY who adds bitter-sweet cello lines and atmospheric effects on top. Later on, Koen joined the group to bring some virtuosic live drumming into the mix and thus completed the trio.
